Notice.

THE PAST EIGHTEEN MONTHS' EXPERIENCE has given the citizens of Chicago ample proof that the soap process of cleansing gentlemen's clothes will not do, as practiced by those inexperienced in the business. The fact of the matter is this, that, unless your coats, vests, and pants, are dyed, cleaned and neatly repaired, by men skilled in their vocation, they had far better never be touched at all; but when they are operated upon by experienced workmen, it is certainly a great saving to the community at large, at the same time conducing much to their bodily comfort. Now, gentlemen, all of you who know anything, know enough by this time to be fully convinced that the only true and reliable source of having your coats, vests and pants cleaned, neatly repaired, and made to look like new, is by COOK & McLAIN'S Chemical process. It certainly does remove every spot of grease, paint, wax, and tar, together with all other blemishes and impurities to which such garments are liable. The spots are warranted not to re-appear, as a beautiful finished lustre is put on when first done.

Gentlemen, call at COOK & McLAIN'S, and look at specimens of their Coat Dressing. If they fail to please you, no charge will be made.

Remember, COOK & McLAIN, 98 Dearborn street, south of the Post-office. ap19-'56-1y

DAILY TRIBUNE.

CITY ITEMS.

The Toronto Railroad Accident.

Full particulars of the fearful railroad accident in Canada, will be found in our telegraph columns. Both from the nature of the calamity, and in its terrible results, it constitutes one of the most heart-rending disasters that we have ever been obliged to record.

WANTED.—A boy about 14 years of age, to carry papers for this office. Apply at 9 A. M., or 4 P. M.

HIBERNIAN BENEVOLENT SOCIETY.—The Fifth Annual dinner of this Society will take place at the Tremont House on the evening of the 17th inst.

LARCENY OF CLOTHING.—Francis Conroy was yesterday brought before Justice D'Wolf upon a charge of stealing a couple of pairs of pantaloons from Messrs. Sproule & Chapotin's clothing store on Lake street. He was committed for further examination.

HENRY TURNER'S ESTATE.—The examination was entered upon yesterday before the Surrogate relative to the will of the late Henry Turner, (Circus Proprietor,) who left all his property to Mr. Levi J. North, of Chicago, his partner. Several brothers and sisters contest the will.—N. Y. Times, 11th.

THE NEW GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS FOR CHICAGO.—The faithful in the Border Ruffian Ranks were greatly exercised yesterday by a rumor, which was current, that Thomas Hoyne, Esq., had been appointed Post Master; Samuel Ashton, Esq., U. S. Marshal, and Col. Carpenter Collector of Customs.

CIRCULATION.—The Times says:

"And we add, that there is one other paper, having a city circulation one-third greater than the Tribune, which will not enter at 'half type setting price.'"

And we add that, if there is a paper having such circulation, it is not the Times, nor can the Times name it.

WILD DUCKS.—During the last few days, numbers of the various species of wild-ducks, usually found in this vicinity in the Spring, have made their appearance in the city markets. Among them we notice canvas, mallards, teal, spike tails, a few black ducks, and wild geese. For the ducks $2 50 to $3 per dozen is paid, and $1 25 each was yesterday paid for wild geese.

"BACK CHARGES."—They have a good deal to say at Chicago lately, about "back charges." But there are some landlords in Chicago who are able to make out a pretty round bill without resorting to that expedient. A friend of ours stopped at a public house there a few days ago, with a couple of lady friends, arriving at 3 o'clock in the morning, and leaving at 7, having had nothing more than parlor accommodations for four hours, for which he was charged the moderate sum of $5.—Keokuk Gate City.

UNPAID LETTERS.—The following is a list of letters detained at the Post Office for the non-payment of postage, March 12, 1857:

Messrs. Fowle & Wells, New York; Stone & Rockwell, New York; McCroy Bro & Co, Grand Rapids, Mich; J G Jackson, Havana, Cuba; H B Pomeroy, Toledo, O; John Morrison, Dubuque, Iowa; James Graham, Chulton, Iowa; John Price, East Liverpool, O; S S Holland. Mrs J Dorchester, Racine, Wis; Miss Martha E Hopkins, Boston, Mass.

THE NOVELLETTE.—McNally, in the Theatre building, has received the first number of the above paper. The Novelette is published weekly at Boston, and is devoted principally to the publishing of most interesting novelettes, the copy rights of which are secured. We are indebted to Mc for the last Ledger, Harper's Journal of Civilization, and late New York papers, for which we tender our best thanks.

COLLINGWOOD STEAMERS.—This pleasant and favorite lake route eastward from Chicago to Collingwood, as we learn from well posted authority, is to have a good line of steamers placed upon it this season. The line will likely be controled by the business public of Collingwood, and probably consist of the steamers Lady Elgin, Keystone State, Queen City, Buckeye State, and a new steamer now being built in Buffalo. We may expect these steamers to come out almost as good as new at the opening and to be well officered.

SHIP CANAL—BOARD OF TRADE TO-DAY.—After the close of trade, or about noon to-day, the members of the Chicago Board of Trade and their visitors, will be addressed (at their room in Steel's Block, on the river, foot of LaSalle street,) by R. S. Wood, Esq., of Chatham, Canada West. Mr. Wood is the originator of a bill recently presented to the Canadian Parliament, providing for a Ship Canal from Rondeau Harbor, Lake Erie, to the upper point of St. Clair Flats, intended to avoid navigation over these Flats, and shorten the distance by lake from the East to the West.

POLICE COURT—FRIDAY.—George Greamer and John Rose were fined $5 each for violation of the depot ordinance; T. W. Walker and Wm. Murray were fined $1 each and sent to the Bridewell thirty days for abusing their families; Mrs. Redfield was fined $10 and sent to the Bridewell twenty days for drunkenness and vagrancy, and Nelson Hamilton was fined $5 for the same offence. For being drunk, disorderly and fighting, W. W. Ford was fined $1. R. Buchanan and N. Smith $2 each, P. B. Kerry and James O'Murry $5 each, H. Rushan and John Wallace $10 each.

ANOTHER SEVENTH WARD RIOTER CAUGHT.—Patrick Carr was examined yesterday morning before Justice D'Wolf, on the charge of instigating a riot in the Seventh Ward on election day. Policemen Miller, Regenwald and Schreiber all testified to seeing accused in the mob that went up from the second to the first District; was at the head of the mob, urging them on; had a club in his hand; saw him strike a man at the polls; took the club from him; the prisoner struck Schreiber with a club; sticks and other weapons were taken from him several times. After driving him away from the polls, he returned with the crowd and commenced another assault. This was the bulk of the testimony against him. On the other side, one or two witnesses testified to his peaceable conduct. One of them was at the polls at the time, but neither saw nor heard anything. Justice D'Wolf held Carr to bail in the sum of $800.

ARREST OF THE ALLEGED MURDERER OF CHARLES SEIFFERT.—Yesterday about noon Officer Williams of Messrs. Bradley & Co.'s Detective Police Agency, arrested John McCarty upon a charge of having killed Charles Seiffert, at the north poll of the Seventh Ward, at the late municipal election. McCarty lives on North Avenue in the Seventh Ward, and was at dinner when the arrest was made. The accused was taken before Justice Milliken, and the examination continued to this morning at nine o'clock. Charles Haven, Esq., States Attorney, appeared for the people, and Cyrus R. Jones, Esq., for the prisoner.

McCarty is one of the persons implicated by the Coroner's Jury in the murder of Seiffert and the testimony taken at the Inquest, was very strong against him. Mr. Williams is entitled to great credit for his efforts to find and arrest McCarthy.

MR. AHNER'S CONCERT THIS AFTERNOON.—The third concert of the third series, with which Mr. Ahner has delighted our people comes off this afternoon. The programme is a good one and calls forth a large attendance. Here it is:

The Coronation March from Meyerbeer's Prophet; duetto from Bellini's Norma for two Cornets, performed by Messrs. Ahner and Loewe; finale from Beethoven's Symphony in C. Major; "Steam Waltz" by Cerulial, (new); overture from Auber's Opera, "La Part du Diable;" Cavatina from Belisario, Donizetti; A Medley,—"Du Lustige Figaro"—Hamm.

We learn that Mr. Ahner has kindly invited the pupils of the High School to attend this concert without charge for admission, an invitation which will, no doubt, be generally accepted. The Great Western Band, under the direction of Mr. Ahner, is already greatly improved and every concert gives cheering evidence that within a very short time Chicago will possess one of the best orchestra's in the country. The musical portion of citizens should aid and sustain Mr. Ahner with liberality and alacrity.

RIOT IN THE TENTH WARD.—We were misinformed in stating that Alonzo Tenelson was trying to vote in the 10th Ward, where he was struck over the head by an Irishman. The following are the facts as narrated to us by the young man's father, and also by the young man himself, to a friend of his, who repeated to us his statement. He resides as stated in the present 5th Ward. Hearing during the election day, that the Irish were carrying things with a high hand down at the 10th Ward—the territory of which had recently been taken from the 5th Ward, he, with a number of other Republican friends, proceeded to the 10th Ward polls. Not long after he got there, the Irish fell upon and beat a number of persons with clubs, who sought, by challenging, to prevent the flood of fraudulent voters that were pouring into the ballot box. During the melee an acquaintance of his, Rigby, was knocked down by the Irish rioters, and jumped upon. Fenelson was trying to rescue him from the clutches of the murderous rabble, when a policeman struck him a terrible blow over the head with his club, which felled him to the ground; while down, the Irish stripped him of his coat, hat and watch, and inflicted upon his body sundry bruises and kicks. He afterwards recovered his watch and coat, but not his hat. He did not try to vote, nor did he provoke a quarrel with any one. He can identify the policeman who struck him, and intends, when he gets well, to prosecute him.

DR. BELLOWS.—We briefly noticed in yesterday's issue, Dr. Bellows' able and admirable lecture before the Young Men's Association on "The Fallacies of Freemen, the Danger of Republics," but the lecture richly deserves a more extended report. The Dr. spoke from the bottom of his heart, as he always does, whatever he has to say. And when he said that Freedom is at this hour more imperilled by the faithlessness of her friends than by the efforts of her foes—that the latter seem to understand her better than her allies—that they respect her with their fears more than we honor her with our hopes; he uttered what must be the secret thought of every observer of the signs of the times. The whole lecture was an effort to furnish the faint-hearted champions of liberty with strengthening arguments for the faith that is in them.

Doctor Bellows was most profuse and happy in his illustrations. He called it a fallacy to believe that men naturally loved Liberty, or looked at Freedom as a privilege rather than a duty. Foreigners notice that we are the most careworn people on earth.—The gaiety of France is the gaiety of a child in leading strings. The gravity of America is the gravity of manhood.

There is a legend of the Catholic Church—painted by Reubens—that there was once a Ferryman named Christopher who carried people across a dangerous ford. One tempestuous night a beautiful child claimed his services. For the first few yards his burthen was like feathers; for the next, like cork; next, wax; next, wood; next, stone—iron—lead: and he barely staggered to the further bank with his awful load. As the child stood before him after his desperate, but heroic struggle, he recognized his Lord, and for his faithful service, Christopher was freed from his labors for ever, and is St. Christopher to this day. That ever-increasing load is Liberty on its passage from Despotism. The perilous stream is Revolution, and the brave, persistent nation that crosses in safety under its load is rewarded by finding the burthen turned into its Redeemer.

He called it a fallacy to expect Liberty to follow rather than lead true education. Reading, writing and arithmetic are tools whose value depends on their use, not on their possession. They are as common in China as in the United States. Many a Western man who cannot spell or write good grammar, has more of the power of learning than an Austrian College Professor. The difference between a learned and unlearned slave is just that between a parrot that cannot talk and a parrot that can.—Hudibras says:

"For the more languages a man can speak,
His talent has but sprung the greater leak,
And for the industry he's spent upon 't
Must full as much some other way discount.
The Hebrew, Chaldee and the Syriac
Do, like their letters, set men's reason back,
And turn their wits that try to understand it,
(Like those that write the characters, left-handed.)
Yet he that is but able to express
No sense at all in several languages,
Will pass for learneder than he that's known
To speak the strongest reason in his own."

So with Religion. In it, Despotism, when in power, finds its strongest ally, no less than does Liberty when Despotism is overthrown. "Issachar is a strong ass bowing between two burdens." The pannier of monarchs on one side is held in place by the pannier of priests on the other, and the ass, which is the disfranchised public, must carry both or neither.

If there was a fault to be found, we should say that the lecture was not quite practical enough for this longitude. This cavil will not apply to the lecture promised for next Thursday night, on "Our National House, and How we are Building it."

A WORLD FOR THE UNFORTUNATE—Editors Tribune:—There is an old proverb, 'that he who makes two blades of grass grow where but one grew, before, is a public benefactor." What then must he be who takes that which was not only useless, but hurtful and dangerous and transforms it into a blessing to all mankind? Yet this is precisely the work which those would undertake who have the cause of the destitute children of our city so much at heart.

Of its practicability no one can doubt who will examine the result of similar efforts in other cities, both in England and in this country, and that it is desirable even the most indifferent can hardly deny. All that the friends of the enterprise ask, is the means to make the experiment, with God's blessing, its success they confidently look for. They do not profess to undertake impossibilities, neither do they hope in every instance to come off conquerors in the conflict with vice and ignorance, but they do profess and hope to be able to show vast results of good from, and to be found faithful stewards of, the means entrusted to their charge. Every housekeeper knows how much time and money are lost by the incompetence of those on whose assistance she is obliged to depend, and every individual feels how much charity is thrown away, from the fact that not those who need, and apply for relief, are generally so utterly helpless and have so little idea of turning what may be provided for them to the best advantage. Shiftless, slatternly mothers send daughters equally shiftless and slatternly into the world, to be in their turn wives and mothers, and thus the evil is perpetuated, and, as there is no stationary point in the progress of evil, any more than in that of good, each generation becomes more defiled and worthless than the last. Now, if it be possible to take but a few of the poor, neglected girls around us, and fit them for usefulness and happiness, it would certainly be an object worthy of all sympathy and encouragement. Every mistress of a family would rejoice to have "helps" who were helpers indeed, and every one who loves his country must feel what a blessing it would be to the community to prepare for the working classes of the next generation wives and mothers who would understand in some degree their duties to their maker and their fellows.

It is very easy to theorize, but what we want is effort; it is delightful to think of an Utopian Republic, where men in office would be above corruption, whose power would be sought simply for the opportunities of doing good it might afford, and where all would unite in obeying the laws and in assisting and upholding each other, but very difficult to understand that there is any connection between these dreams and the little half-clad, haggard boy or girl who meets your glance of curiosity, with, perhaps, a profane or impertinent report. More difficult still, is it, to realize that it was of such as they that Jesus said, "Of such is the Kingdom of Heaven," and that if we want to be like Him, we must do as He did, gather them in our arms, put our hands upon, and bless them with evidences of warm personal sympathy. Who can tell, but those who have seen the experiment tried, how, "like cold water to a thirsty soul" are words and acts of kindness to a poor, forsaken child who never in its life knew the comfort of laying its aching head upon a mother's breast, and who never before heard of sympathy and tenderness? "Therefore, whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them, for this is the Law and the Gospel." B.

MARRIED.

On the 5th inst., in Lockport, Ill., by the Rev. Mr. Clark J. H. MORRIS, of Chicago, and E. J. GAMBLE, of the former place.

MATTERS OF BUSINESS.

HAVING lately visited the Daguerreian gallery of Alshuler Bros., 143 Lake street,—Capt. Von Schneidau's old stand—and being highly pleased with the pictures there exhibited, we take great pleasure in recommending them as well worthy the attention of all lovers of the fine arts. The plain photographs cannot be excelled, if equalled. Messrs. A. & Bros. have been fortunate in making an arrangement with the celebrated artist, Mr. Staunton, of New York. His life size pictures, both in oil and water colors, from photographs, are the very perfection of the art. We trust this gentleman's artistic merits will gain for him the patronage he deserves, and earnestly recommend all who intend having their own or their friends' likeness taken, to call on him without delay, as his stay in the city is only for a short period.

"HOPE ON, HOPE EVER."—This sublime advice has been given more than once to the poor consumptive by those who have witnessed the unparalleled efficacy, as a curer of pulmonary evils, of Dr. H. James' Extract of Cannabis Indica. The old doctor's son-in-law, Dr. Tilton, has been stopping for a short time at room No. 11, Massasoit House, in this city, and during his stay has restored more people's cases than we care to catalogue. He has a brief and comprehensive course of treatment, devised by Dr. James himself, which cures permanently and pleasantly the worst cases of consumption, asthma and bronchitis, and restores health, when a requisition upon the grave was only expected. The Cannabis Indica destroys the worst fresh cold ever contracted and cures it thoroughly in forty-eight hours. It banishes coughs speedily. It works wonders with sufferers by nervous disorganization. This is high praise, but it is deserved. Let those who doubt it visit Dr. Tilton.

P. S.—By addressing Dr. Tilton a note through the Chicago Post Office, inclosing four postage stamps—a recipe will be sent in return free of charge, to any part of the Union.

Further About the Railroad Accident.

BUFFALO, March 13.

The Commercial Advertiser has the following particulars of the railroad catastrophe at Hamilton from a gentleman who left the scene of disaster this morning.

The accident occurred at the bridge over the Des Jardines Canal, about two miles north-east of Hamilton. The bridge swings and is elevated some 60 feet above the water. The train was a local accommodation, running between Toronto and Hamilton. It left Toronto at 4 P. M., and was due at Hamilton at 5:30. The number of passengers is variously estimated from 75 to 100; of whom only 15 were taken from the wreck, and of these five have since died.

The water in the canal is eighteen feet deep, and all not immediately killed were drowned. The engine and tender with the engineer and fireman, were pitched headlong into the canal, and were buried twenty feet below the surface. The baggage car and two passenger cars are a complete wreck.

One of the passenger cars was turned bottom side upwards, and is about two-thirds submerged. Parties were still busy this morning, extricating bodies from the wreck.

In an out house, adjoining the Station House, at Hamilton, about fifty or sixty corpses of men, women and children were laid out. No inquest had yet been held. Most of the passengers were from Hamilton, Toronto, and adjoining towns.

Samuel Zimmerman, Mr. Buchanan, Vice-president of the road and Captain Towhey, a popular commander on Lake Ontario, are among the victims. Only one lady passenger was saved and she is considerably cut and bruised. A German lad in the hind car seeing the conductor hastily retreating to the back door, followed, and with the conductor and two others, were the only ones who escaped with trifling injuries. Mr. Bridges, managing director of the road, Dr. Machem and Mr. Street of Chippewa, were on the train, but escaped with their lives, although considerably injured.

The remains of Mr. Zimmerman will be taken to his residence this P. M. He was in the baggage car at the time of the accident.

HAMILTON, C. W., March 13.

Parties have been busy during the day in extricating bodies from the wreck. Up to this evening fifty-seven bodies have been recovered. Many have already been carried away by their friends. A jury was empannelled this morning, and immediately proceeded to view the various bodies and investigate the cause of the disaster.

The following bodies have been identified: Mrs. Doyle and Thomas Doyle of Dumbarton; James Barr, James Mayer, of Two Rivers; David McFagan, of Galt; Mr. Kendall, of Lockport, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Brosfield, of Suspension Bridge; Mrs. Duffin, Toronto; John Beck, wife and and two children, Mr. and Mrs. Russell, of Brantford; Mr. Curtiss, of Dawlings, back broken and cannot live; James Ross of Toronto; John Welford, England; Burnfield, engineer; Geo. Knight, fireman; Mr. Boston, Stafford; Robt. Crawford of Saltfleet, Mr. Sturdy of London, Hugh McFlag and wife of St. Catharines, Timothy and Patrick Doyle of Dumbarton, James Barton of Toronto, Thos. Brown of Galt, Ellen and Mary Devine and James Forbes of Milson, Ralph Wade of Coburg, Charles Caldwell of Albion, Geo. McDonnell, Donald Stewart, Rev. A. Booker, Erastus N. It is intended to give public funeral to the unfortunate sufferers on Monday next.

Committees have been formed to wait upon the friends of the deceased.

New Appointments.

WASHINGTON, March 13.

Lord Napier has had an informal interview with the Secretary of State, and Monday next arranged for his presentation to the President of the United States.

About 40 persons from Kansas, including 10 Indians of that territory, this morning, headed by Gen. Whitfield, formally paid their respects to the President.

Senate will adjourn sine die to-morrow, the President having no communications to make which would render it necessary to prolong the sessions beyond that time.

The following appointments were confirmed by the Senate yesterday:

J. C. Ramsey, U. S. Attorney for the Eastern District of Tennessee.

Wm. M. Downy, Marshal for Eastern District of Tennessee.

Jos. S. Smith, U. S. Attorney for Washington Territory.

Owen L. Cochrane, Postmaster at Houston, Texas; re-appointed.

John L. Buck, Postmaster at Tuscaloosa, Ala.; re-appointed.

Alex. H. McKissock of Arkansas, Indian Agent for Wachitas and neighboring tribes west of Choctaws and Chickasaws.

Elias S. Dennis, Marshal for Kansas Territory.

Hamden McKnahan, Marshal for Western District of Tennessee.

Senate adopted resolutions of Committee on Judiciary, discharging it from further consideration, of the protest and papers referred to them relative to Cameron's seat.

Mr. Benjamin, from Judiciary Committee, reported a resolution authorizing testimony to be taken by Fitch and Bright, and those contesting their seats, from Indiana.

Mr. Trumbull wanted the case disposed of at the present session, and offered a resolution to that effect.

The amended Central American treaty was confirmed by a vote of 32 to 15. Under this action the treaty will go back to England for ratification, unless Lord Napier brought full authority, in view of this possible contingency, to accept such alterations as might be made.

A rumor reached London before Lord Napier's departure of uncertainties here, and therefore precautions may have been taken to clothe him with power to close the whole question.

The Sandwich Islands treaty was laid on the table, which is a virtual rejection.

Mr. Benjamin called up the resolution reported from the Committee on Judiciary, to discharge them from further consideration of protest and papers in the case of Cameron.

Mr. Bigler said he intended to make no issue with the report of the Committee. He supposed an opportunity would be afforded the Members of the Legislature making the allegations to substantiate the charges. He had no hesitation as to what course he should adopt. He had received a telegraphic dispatch, signed by four members of the Pennsylvania Legislature, in which they informed him that they had sent a statement by mail, no doubt with reference to the assertions of his colleague. The communication had not reached him, and he asked that the question be postponed till to-morrow morning.

Mr. Butler could not agree to the postponement. He had no idea of making the Senate a tribunal before which political parties were to bring their controversies. If the members of the Pennsylvania Legislature have been dabbling in dirty water, let them wash themselves before they come here.

Mr. Bigler supposed his proposition was so reasonable there could be no objection to it.

Mr. Seward stated that the reason Cameron made no reply was, that he acted on the advice of personal and political friends.

The resolution of the committee was then adopted.

Mr. Benjamin, from Committee on Judiciary, reported a resolution that all parties to the contested election in Indiana, take testimony for a judicial tribunal of that State.

Mr. Trumbull said there was no matter at issue at all material to the case. He moved to adopt as a substitute for the resolution, the following:

That it is the duty of the Senate to proceed to the consideration of the question as to setting members from Indiana at the present session, and to dispose of the same before adjournment.

Mr. Fitch remarked that Trumbull had reiterated his previous statements, and that there were no questions of facts at issue or in the very face of a knowledge on his part to the contrary.

Mr. Trumbull replied he had spoken of the question as it was his duty to do as a member of the Senate. Instead of the Senator's showing that he had a right to a seat, the Senator, like the culprit, sought to occupy the place of judge. He did not say there was no issue of fact. As to the journal being that of an authorized mob, let the Senator answer to the members of the Indiana Legislature. It was sent to him as a true transcript, and as such he presented it. If the case was different from what he supposed, and it was proved to be untrue, let the facts be shown.

Mr. Fitch replied that the Senator from Illinois in occupying the attention of the Senate, had shown that he feels approximate to which was perfectly consistent with the relation he bore to the case.

The Chairman, Mr. Mason, temporarily presiding, called Mr. Fitch to order for personal remarks.

Mr. Fitch resuming, said he had a right to complain because the judge in which capacity the Senator had heretofore acted, had prejudged this case, thus departing from law and oath of duty. The Senator had reiterated his former positions, seeking by teasing and implication, in and out of season, to worry out the question. The Senator wanted to rely on the journal of a mob to make out his case. He owed an apology to the Senate even for this brief reply, and desired the vote to be taken.

Mr. Bright said he did not know in a Legislative forum that his right to a seat was questioned no formal reference had been made of his credentials, but of course the settlement of the right of his colleague to a seat settled his own.

At this point an extract from the journal was read by which it appeared that on motion of Mr. Trumbull it was ordered that the credentials of Mr. Bright and Mr. Fitch together with papers on file relative to their election as Senator be referred to the Committee on Judiciary.

Mr. Bright inquired of Mr. Trumbull—"Did you ever make that motion?" Mr. Trumbull replied that he supposed he did, though he had no distinct recollection when he made the motion.

Mr. Bright the Senator was mistaken, his credentials were not referred.

Mr. Butler remarked so far as he knew the credentials were not referred.

Mr. Bright maintained that a large majority of the people of Indiana were in favor of his remaining here as Senator, and unless it could be found by some authentic fact, showing that 83 is not a clear majority of a hundred, it could not be demonstrated that he was not legally chosen Senator from Indiana. This same revolutionary party protested against their right to seats. If he was not elected a Senator he did not desire to remain here. He felt he was representing his State. The U. S. Senate had thought to claim jurisdiction of so great an outrage, and notwithstanding the denial of the Senator from Illinois, there was no law in reference to the election of Senator on the statute book of Indiana.

Two years ago the Democratic Senate enacted a law for this purpose, but the Republican House of Representatives refused to pass it.—The present Legislature, however, were governed by precedent.

Without concluding, he gave way for motion of Mason to go into Executive session, which prevailed, and after three hours spent therein, the Senate adjourned.

Bad Ruling.

WASHINGTON, March 10th.

You may be somewhat astonished to learn that Col. John W. Forney did not go to the Inauguration. Mr. Magraw, our State Treasurer, did not go; nor did several other very prominent Eastern Democrats, among whom is James L. Reynolds, Esq., of this city. What is wrong? These men were always considered indispensable to Mr. Buchanan's retinue. Without their united services Mr. Buchanan could never have been elected President. But how is it now? "Old Buck" has cut them loose. He never was known to reward a friend for faithful services, but gave all offices in his gift to buy up his enemies. No man ever served another more faithfully, or to better advantage than John W. Forney did Mr. Buchanan. Now that Mr. Buchanan is elected to office, he cuts him instead of rewarding him with the best office in his power. John W. Forney deserves the richest jewel in the casket, but not a pebble does he get; he is not even permitted to grind the Administration Organ.

Massachusetts Legislature.

BOSTON, March 10.

In the House to-day an order was adopted instructing the committee on federal relations to consider the expediency of instructing our Senators and requesting our Representatives in Congress to propose an amendment of the Constitution of the United States, electing Judges of the Supreme and inferior Courts by the people for a term of years.

The House also appointed a committee to consider and report what measures should be taken in view of the decision of the Supreme Court in the Dred Scott case.

Commercial Affairs.

CHICAGO WHOLESALE MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE, } Friday Evening, March 13, 1857. }

Weather more pleasant, and trade in Grain and Provisions has been active to-day, notwithstanding the depressing character of the news by the last steamers.

WHEAT buyers in a small way appeared to have dropped off, only a few transactions for present delivery taking place at 90c for spring in store. But for future delivery three cargoes sold: 10,000 bu spring at 97c on board 1st of May, one third cash down; 10,000 bushels spring at 95c on board by 1st of May, on short time, nearly equal to cash down; 10,000 bushels spring at 94c on board and payable 1st of April, which, if not put on the vessel at that time would require some 2c storage to be paid before the opening.

CORN.—A sale of 20,000 bushels took place at 48c, payable on delivery, on board last half of July. On track, 40@41c is paid, and to distillery 43@[illegible]c in bags. A good deal was offered on 'change in lots of 300 to 1,000 bushels, without sale.

OATS sold on 'change to the amount of 600 bushels, at 30c in bags in store.

MESS PORK is firm at quotations; 100 bbls country packed sold at $22 and 100 bbls at $22,50 ⅌ bbl. A lot of 500 bbls country was offered at $22—an offer of $21,25 at Rock Island was made for it, which is about equal to $22 delivered here.

LARD is very scarce, high and firm; 14c ⅌ lb was refused for 100 tierces, and not a barrel could probably be had in the city under this.

CUT MEATS are very scarce—no sales reported.

FREIGHTS are beginning to be talked about. Some vessel owners think that as there are but few propellers here, not more than are wanted to go to Milwaukee for the stock of flour there, that the rate for wheat to Buffalo by sail will possibly open at 12c; the propellers at Buffalo will not likely leave for this port till goods from the Erie Canal reach them for shipment up here. But others think from the great number of sail vessels here and the comparatively small amount of grain, that 8@10c will be the highest for wheat to Buffalo. From our quotations of the St. Louis market, given in another place, it will be seen that produce is still going out of the rivers, southward, rapidly, and good prices are yet maintained. Some of our own city dealers are sending out large quantities of grain by the Illinois river.

Eggs and Butter continue dull. Highwines are scarce, and held by some as high as 30c ⅌ gallon, to which the price it is thought will rise.

A CAPITAL NEW BOOK.

THE STAR AND THE CLOUD;
Or, A DAUGHTER'S LOVE.
By ANNA S. ROE.
1 neat 12mo. volume. Price $1,25.
From the N. Y. Daily Times.

"Some five years ago we read a novel called 'I've been Thinking,' by A. T. Roe; and though it was lacking in literary finish, yet, such was the power of prolixity manifested in its pages, the author so evidently possessed the rare faculty of taking hold of his reader's attention and dragging him along over and wastes of dull description, that we had no hesitation in prophesying that he would turn up a popular novel-writer. It was full of strongly-marked characters and striking incidents. He has since produced two or three books which have justified the opinion we formed of his talent. The last one that has reached us is called 'The Star and the Cloud; or, A Daughter's Love.' Like his other novels, it is thoroughly American, serious in tone, with strongly individualized characters, striking incidents, and rather long descriptions of rural scenery. The scene of the story is in Monmouth County, New Jersey, and the local coloring is exceedingly fresh and natural."

Also, uniform with the above:

THE NEW "PURITAN" ROMANCE.—

THE BAY PATH;
A TALE OF COLONIAL TIMES IN NEW ENGLAND.
By J. G. HOLLAND,
Editor of The Springfield Republican.

This admirably written story gives an original and very interesting picture of the state of society in the early times of Massachusetts. Many of the characters are historical, and a scene which has been made remarkably famous in Hawthorn's Seven Gables is here presented in a very different aspect, and much more nearly in accordance with truth. The publishers believe this to be eminently worthy of a permanent and prominent place in the historical-romantic literature of the country.

"The early colonial life of New England, though cramped in its creeds, rigid in its governmental policy, formed in its society and homely in its details, was neither without its romantic aspects, nor its heroes in high and humble position, with whose full hearts, independent wills and manly struggles the largest spirit of this age may fully sympathize."—Extract from Preface.

The Capture of Washington.

HISTORY OF THE INVASION AND Capture of Washington, and of the events which preceded and followed it. By J. S. Williams, Brigade Major and Inspector, Columbian Brigade, in the war of 1812. 12mo muslin, $1.

Of the manner in which this most interesting and important work has been prepared, the opinion of the Hon. John P. Kennedy, in the following letter to a friend of the author, is presented to the public as ample and satisfactory testimony:—

"I have read with great interest Col. William's 'History of the Invasion and Capture of Washington,' which you were so kind as to send me in advance of its publication. It is remarkably well written, and presents such a clear and intelligible narrative of the incidents of the short and unfortunate campaign as to leave the most vivid impression on the mind of the reader. It constitutes a sad chapter in our annals, but one full of valuable instruction, and worthy of the careful study of every American statesman. Apart from its merits as a literary performance, it may claim the higher commendation of being an important and long needed contribution to the history of the country which will become not less memorable for the significance of the events it describes than for the lesson it teaches. Independent of its value in this point of view, it will be found so attractive from the excellence of its style that few readers who take it up will be content to break off the perusal until they have gone entirely through. Not many books have lately been given to the press which better reward the time spent upon them. Yours, &c.
JOHN P. KENNEDY."

DAILY TRIBUNE.
No. 53 CLARK STREET.
CITY OF CHICAGO.
Saturday Morning........March 14, 1857.

Amending their Opinions.

The Washington correspondent of the N. Y. Tribune telegraphs to that paper March 10th, that "several of the Supreme Court Judges are getting their opinions printed privately, and have revised them to conform to the points of Judges Curtis and McLean. Chief Justice Taney is altering his materially, and Judge Catron has suppressed some portions clearly announced in the Court. As the majority disagree upon various propositions among themselves, and have changed ground since the decision was promulgated, the whole moral effect of their concurrence is destroyed."

After the riddling broadsides poured into them by Judges McLean and Curtis, we presume they need patching and caulking to keep from sinking.

Discriminating Tolls Again.

Elsewhere in this paper, we copy from the New York Evening Post, a conclusive article upon the project now before the legislature of the State for levying discriminating tolls upon western produce, seeking a market by way of the Oswego Canal. Inasmuch as all our readers are directly interested in whatever increases the cost of transportation of our great staples eastward, we trust they will not neglect to give the article a careful perusal.

Rondeau Canal.

We have a dispatch from Mr. Woods, of Chatham, C. W., the originator of the project which looks to the opening of a Ship Canal between the lower end of Lake Huron, and Rondeau on Lake Erie, saying that he will be in Chicago this morning, when, no doubt, he will be happy to open his budget to the Board of Trade, or any other body of our citizens who are willing to meet him and discuss the best methods of shortening the route for the transit of Western produce between the port of Chicago and the Atlantic coast. Mr. Woods' scheme, though it will by no means accomplish all that is desired by the commerce of Chicago, is important enough to enlist our commercial men in any plan which may be devised for its immediate execution; and we trust that the reception given to the enterprising gentleman who stands sponsor to it, may convince him that our merchants and other business men are in earnest in their desire to lend him a helping hand. He comes in a good time. The fear that the New York Legislature may accept the Buffalo plan of increasing the revenues of the canals of that State, has given activity to the thoughts of those who have been looking forward to a removal of the difficulties which lie in the way of a direct trade with Europe, by the St. Lawrence route; and they will now be ready to embrace any practicable plan, having the success of that trade for its object, even though it removes only the first and smallest of the obstacles to be encountered. Of one thing all may be assured: Mr. Woods' facts and opinions are those in which he implicitly believes; and beyond the desire to accomplish a good work both for Canada and the West, he has nothing to hope for in the success of the enterprise in which he is engaged. We commend him to the good offices of our citizens.

Terrible Railroad Accident in Canada.

We had, yesterday, a brief account, by telegraph, of a fearful railroad accident on the Toronto and Hamilton Railway, Canada, by which it is reported that some sixty lives were lost. The character of the locality at which the calamity occurred tends to confirm the awful loss of life that is reported.

The Desjardin Canal is about half a mile from Hamilton, and cuts its way through the Burlington Heights, over which the Toronto and Hamilton Railroad passes. The bridge is some four hundred feet in length with an elevation of fully one hundred and fifty feet. It is here the accident occurred, the train plunging from the track into the fearful abyss. It would be almost miraculous if a single person escaped of those who went down with the cars, for even if some were saved from instant destruction by the terrific fall, (which is next to impossible,) the chances of a watery death would only be too probable.

Amongst those who are reported as lost we find the name of SAMUEL ZIMMERMAN, one of the great "Railroad Kings." Mr. ZIMMERMAN was born in Pennsylvania and commenced life in an humble capacity, but has worked his way up to a position which few attain. He was the original contractor of the Great Western road, and built the Railroad Suspension bridge at Niagara. For the last nine years he has resided in Canada, actively engaged in various railroad enterprises, in all of which his success has been preeminent. He recently erected a magnificent residence at Niagara Falls, on the Canada side, and had been married but a short time. His loss will be deeply and widely felt.

The accident has caused much excitement in the city, and further accounts of the sad affair are anxiously looked for. We have, as yet, received no account of what it was that precipitated the train from the bridge.

Should be Printed in Pamphlet Form.

The opinions of Judges TANEY and NELSON, on the one side, and those of Judges McLEAN and CURTIS, on the other side of the famous Dred Scott case, should be printed and published in pamphlet form, in clear type and on good paper, marked and arranged so as to present the leading points readily and clearly to the eye. It would form the most important political document published since the revival of the Slavery agitation by PIERCE, DOUGLAS and the Democratic party. It is a document that every judge and lawyer ought to have. Every politician would possess himself of a copy. Every clergyman and teacher should have a copy of it; and tens of thousands of intelligent citizens would purchase it. The matter is too long for general newspaper insertion, but will make a good sized pamphlet.

The opinions of Judge McLEAN stand forth a magnificent monument of sound legal argument on the side of Freedom and Justice that can never be overturned, and to which the Free States will respond in grateful admiration. He utterly pulverizes the monstrous Pro-Slavery doctrine advanced by Chief Justice TANEY, that the slave laws of any Slave State extends beyond the limits of that State or into the Territories of the Union, and he demonstrates in the most convincing manner that Congress has the constitutional power to prohibit the introduction or existence of human slavery in any territory belonging to the United States. And in the special case of Dred Scott, he proves beyond all successful contradiction that "a man once free is always free, under our form of government, and can only be deprived of his freedom by brute force and illegal coercion." Let any lawyer read carefully the opinions adduced by TANEY and McLEAN, and he must feel that the former is a pigmy in the gripe of a giant, crushed and annihilated.

Judge CURTIS followed McLEAN with an exposition of the whole subject, of wonderful power and clearness. A cotemporary remarks: "On the question of the citizenship of the people of African descent, which Judge TANEY indignantly denied, Judge CURTIS' argument was entirely exhaustive. He has settled the question. He ground up the very bones of the Chief Justice's argument, and has placed his case upon immutable grounds. He has made the law on this subject, and the question will never be argued again. He may be voted down by Legislatures, Courts, and Executives, but the argument will forever stand unimpeached. The Chief Justice and his next-door neighbor WAYNE evidently felt the crushing weight of his exposition. And while Judge CURTIS did not tell his legal chief that he was guilty of falsehood, he did say that his statements would be received with very great surprise, and proceeded to demonstrate his gross historical misrepresentation, and showed that his opinions under existing circumstances, deserve no more respect than any Pro-Slavery stump speech made during the late Presidential canvass."

Let the opinions be published in pamphlet form. It will constitute the best Republican document ever published.

THE NEW POSTMASTER GENERAL.—In reference to this very important member of the new Administration, the Washington Globe of the 7th inst. says:

"We like the change making Mr. Brown Postmaster General, because he is a man of untiring industry, and of great ability, both mental and physical. It requires such a man to bring that Department into order again, and to make it pay its own way, as it should do. Now, it sinks an average of $10,000 a day the year round, while the mails are behind time in every section of the country almost every day, and the people [illegible] depend on private enterprise for the [illegible]."

[illegible] WALTER BROOKE, of Mississippi, died [illegible] on the [illegible].

Case of Dred Scott—Consequences.

The recent decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, whereby Slavery is made a national institution, capable of indefinite extension, under the authority of the Constitution alone, into Territory now free, has awakened a response that will make itself heard for half a century, or until that basely partizan decision is reversed. In the Legislature of New York the following resolution has been introduced:

Whereas, The Supreme Court of the United States have decided, by the concurring opinions of the five members of that Court from the Slaveholding States, that Slavery may be extended into the Territories of the United States, and that neither Congress, nor a Territorial Government instituted by it, can exclude Slavery from them, and which decision has in effect declared slavery to be national, and most seriously impaired the constitutional rights of the free citizens of this State; therefore,

Resolved, (If the Senate concur,) That a joint committee of three members of the Senate and five members of the Assembly be appointed to consider and report what measures (if any) the Legislature of this State ought to adopt to protect the constitutional rights of her citizens against the serious and alarming doctrines of the aforesaid decision.

In the Ohio Legislature, also, resolutions of a similar character have been moved, and will probably be adopted; and elsewhere in the Free States the feelings of horror and indignation consequent upon the monstrous assumptions of that tribunal, and their probable consequences, are seeking expression in an hundred different ways. The Northern Pro-Slavery men, those who until now have been most fiercely denunciatory of Republican doctrines—are in the meantime amazed into silence by the extreme and indefensible position into which the Supreme Court has been forced by the pressure of Southern opinion. They see as we see what results hang upon the dictum of the Court; and they are not yet prepared to submit. As long as Slavery was in the far South, and they were not disturbed by its horrible sights, it was defensible or at least a matter of indifference; but as the possibilities are opened for its becoming a part of the daily life of States nominally—under this decision, only nominally—free, and visions of coffle-gangs on their way through Illinois or Indiana, to Kansas or Minnesota, rise up before them; as they learn that Chicago, under the amendment which Judge Taney has grafted upon the Constitution, may become a slave market and that men, women and children may be sold off the block in our streets, in defiance of our local laws, they naturally start back aghast. Let them shake in their shoes; for upon them the responsibility of this thing rests. They, not the fire-eaters of the South, are to blame. They have encouraged, coaxed and defended aggression after aggression upon the rights of North, by the Oligarchy which now has possession of every branch of the government; and the goal at which we have now arrived has been full in view ever since the lapse into barbarism commenced.

Our New Government.

Within the past few days there has been a change in the members of our National Legislature. Except two-thirds of the Senators, who held over, on Wednesday, 4th inst., there was inaugurated a new Federal Government, of which we give a brief view:

LEGISLATIVE.

The Thirty-Fifth Congress commenced March 4, 1857, and will end March 4, 1859. The names of Members we omit, and will only give the political complexion of the two Houses:

THE SENATE

Is composed of sixty-two members:

Democrats	35
Republicans	20
Americans	5
Vacancies	2
President of Senate	John C. Breckinridge
Secretary of Senate	Asbury Dickens

THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Is composed of two hundred and thirty-four members:

	LAST, OR 34TH CONGRESS. Dem.	Opp.	NEW, OR 35TH CONGRESS Dem.	Opp.

Total thus far	30	116	60	81
		30		60

The above may be modified somewhat by result of contested seats. In the following States elections are yet to be held. The following shows the character of their representation in the last Congress:

	Dem	Opp.		Dem	Opp
Alabama	5	2	North Carolina	5	3
Connecticut	..	4	New Hampshire	..	3
Georgia	5	3	Rhode Island	..	2
Kentucky	4	6	Tennessee	4	6
Louisiana	3	1	Texas	1	1
Maryland	1	5	Virginia	10	3
Mississippi	4	1
			Old delegation	42	39

Present Democratic majority in remaining 13 States......4

The New York Herald, in regard to the probable result of these elections, thus speculates:

"It is probable that of the thirteen States where elections are yet to be held—Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia—will elect Democratic members; that the Kentucky and Maryland delegations will be largely Democratic, while Rhode Island, New Hampshire and Connecticut are likely to elect Opposition members. With these facts and probabilities in view, the next House of Representatives will stand as follows:

Buchanan	129
Opposition	103
Probable Buchanan majority	26

With a Democratic majority of twelve in the Senate and of twenty-six in the House, Buchanan will have a fair start in Congress."

Buchanan's Reception at Baltimore.

It appears, from a correspondent of the N. Y. Tribune, that the President elect did not have such a reception at Baltimore as he might have been led to expect. The correspondent says:

Leaving Lancaster by special train at 8 o'clock in the morning, they passed through Columbia and York in due time, meeting thousands gathered by the wayside to do him honor—to cheer him on. But, ah! what a sad tale I have to tell of his arrival at the Monumental City—a city henceforth to be stigmatized as a city of bacchanalian mobs. A city once famous for its high toned honor, its hospitality, its beautiful women, its chivalrous young men, to be guilty of allowing James Buchanan, President elect, on his way to be inaugurated, to be hissed and hooted, his carriage to be stoned, his friends assaulted, his guard of honor to be pelted with brickbats! So serious was the affair, that Mr. Buchanan's friends thought it advisable to have him decline the dinner tendered him—to dine privately, to slip out of the "side door" of the City Hotel, to elude the mob, and to take an early special train for Washington. Several of the "Fencibles" were seriously injured, among them Aldus J. Neff, Esq., Col. Wm. Gumpf, and Major Metzger, the "Dutch tailor," who made Mr. Buchanan's Inaugural suit.

You are aware that Mr. Buchanan gave the "Fencibles" the slip at Baltimore. You now have the cause of so singular a course.

I have been told by several of the "Fencibles" that if it had not been for the "Regulars" at Baltimore they really believe that Mr. Buchanan would himself have been seriously injured before he left that city.

Col. Gumpf is now lying quite ill from the injuries received from this mob; indeed he returned home in citizen's dress.

Ohio Legislature—Rights of Women.

The Senate listened to a memorial on the rights of women, and both the Senate and the House have been frequently and respectably petitioned to do something to protect women in the possession and disposal of property. Mr. Smith, of Franklin, introduced a bill, a few days ago, designed to prevent the abuse of the rights women may hold in property, and yesterday Mr. Plumb, of Ashtabula, made an elaborate and able speech upon petitions signed by about 10,000 persons, male and female, asking for the repeal of all laws regarding property rights, and the guardianship of children, making a distinction on account of sex.

The justness of the petition, Mr. Plumb argued with force, and asked that the committee on Judiciary be instructed to report such bills as, when enacted, will so change existing statutes as to secure—

1st. To the married woman the right to hold a personality in her own name.

2d. To a married woman a right to one-half of the real estate earned and acquired jointly, which cannot be transferred by sale or gift without her consent.

3d. To secure to the wife when she becomes a widow, the same rights that by law are conferred upon the husband, in case of her death.

4th. To the wife and widow an equal right to the guardianship of children.

The report and its recommendations were ordered to be printed in the appendix to the House journal, and that is probably all the action that will be taken on this subject this session; but the time is coming when an Ohio Legislature will do as full justice to woman as the recommendations of the report suggest.

HOPKINSVILLE, KY., March 11th.—During a debate at Madisonville on Monday, W. B. Clark shot Wm. Morrow. It is supposed he is mortally wounded. Both are democratic candidates for the Kentucky Legislature.

THE DEEP CUT AGAIN.

[For the Chicago Daily Tribune.]

Messrs. Editors:—In the wake of that eminent letter of Senator Fuller's on the proposed improvement of the Illinois river and canal, perhaps a few thoughts of a commoner upon the same subject may be admissable in your columns.

Not many years ago, New York State was rife with questions as to the practicability of the deepening of the Erie Canal from Lockport to the Tonawanda creek, so as to supply the long level from Lockport to Rochester, during the dry seasons, from the great reservoir Lake Erie. And although the almost insurmountable difficulty of cutting through the solid rock for many miles, to the depth of from thirty to forty feet stood in the way, yet it was accomplished, and now when the rains and melting snows have not swollen the Tonawanda, the waters of Lake Erie serve the treble purpose of floating the merchandise, grains, &c., that seeks that great commercial avenue, revivifying the atmosphere, and turning the many wheels along its banks, that pay a yearly tribute therefor to the State; and every year can be seen the huge walls of stone that were excavated and piled up each side of the said deep cut being lowered by cranes stationed on the high banks, and carried to the many villages and cities, —not only on the canal but even to Chicago—to build Court Houses, etc., etc., and strange as it may appear to some, eminent engineers are now busy with calculations to form artificial reservoirs among the mountains of Pennsylvania and Virginia, to contain reserve waters to supply the Ohio through her seasons of drouth, and still this far seeing, enlightened community of Illinois, stands doubting as to the practicability and utility of deepening this partially mud slough from Chicago river to the declivity of the DuPage waters to the Illinois river.

Are we any more blessed with quarries than the region of Lockport, N. Y., that we can say the building material that would be excavated from this proposed cut will not find sale? Does not our present Mayor, in his elaborate inaugural, foretell the uses to which it could be put on our streets and side walks to take the place of the present rat cages of plankings? Does not our almost (in summer) stagnant river need some cleansing impulse to purify it? Is there no want of water in the bed of the Illinois during the hot season of the year that this out pouring of Lake Michigan would be burdensome to its bosom? Is there no waiting commerce stuck on bars between LaSalle and St. Louis to welcome a swell from old Lake Michigan?

Yours, an ardent admirer of
PROJECTED DEEP CUT.

The Discriminating Toll Question—A Word to the Railroad Interest.

[From the New York Evening Post.]

There seems to be an impression abroad that the plan of levying extra tolls upon the Oswego branch of the Erie canal originated with the people acting in the interest of the Central and Erie railroads. We know nothing of the justice of this suspicion, but we see very clearly that the railroad interest is the only interest within this State that would profit materially by such a measure. It is equally clear that the Erie canal would not profit by it, notwithstanding the insinuating statement of Mr. Auditor Benton, that "the increase of tolls which would have been produced on the shipments by the way of Oswego, had all such property passed through the whole line of the Erie canal, would have been $1,777,757 during the last five years, and an average of $235,551.40 each year," and for two reasons: the first is, that freight will never again resume its old channels through the canal from Buffalo, but will take the railroad in preference; the second is, that there are many ways now, equally desirable, of reaching foreign markets, less expensive than by the Erie canal, with the proposed increase of tolls. That the canal from Buffalo cannot compete with the railroads, will appear by a very few figures.

Buffalo received from the lakes last year 1,200,000 barrels of flour, and manufactured herself 300,000, making in all 1,500,000 barrels. Did all or any considerable part of that flour come to market by the way of the canal? By no manner of means. Only 70,000 barrels, or one-twentieth of the whole paid tolls to the State; the rest came down by railroad. Now let us see how it was with Oswego and its canal. At this port only 60,000 barrels were received from the lakes, and yet 395,000 barrels were shipped thence during the year by way of the canals, or five times as much as was shipped by canal from Buffalo. The railroad takes all such freight from Buffalo, the canal takes it from Oswego.

The time seems to be rapidly approaching when the railroads will completely absorb the business between the Hudson and the Lakes. Mark the increase in their business from this source within two years: the tonnage of the property carried on the Central Railroad in the years 1853 and 1856 was as follows:

1853	166,000 tons.
1856	776,112

The Central and Erie roads, in 1853, derived from freight alone a revenue of $4,362,786; in 1856 the revenue from the same source amounted to $9,000,000. These figures show where the tolls have gone and are going, and it will be of no service to the canal fund, but rather a detriment, to protect the canal by a discriminating tax. Such a measure will only drive the freight on to the railroads or out of the State. A few facts within the range of public observation will show very conclusively, that our facilities for transport from the lakes to New York will bear no more burdens.

In the first place, shipments of flour, grain and provisions have already been made from Chicago to Liverpool, by way of the lakes and St. Lawrence river.

Secondly, The Welland Canal locks will soon be enlarged, when vessels of 1,000 tons burthen can pass from the farthest western lake to any ocean port.

Thirdly, Montreal and the eastern States have bought during the past year, from Oswego millers, $1,000,000 worth of flour, that has gone down the St. Lawrence.

Fourthly, The Grand Trunk Railway has conveyed nearly as much flour from Canada West to Portland since the close of navigation as was transported all last season by canal from Buffalo. The tendency of freight in this direction will be vastly increased when the Victoria Railroad bridge, now building at an expense of $7,000,000 across the St. Lawrence at Montreal is completed, and railway communication from Detroit to Portland without changing cars is established.

These are some of the channels through which western freight will find its way to market if the Buffalo scheme is suffered to prevail. The state will lose both in tolls and trade; the railroads will temporarily profit by the arrangement, but they also will ultimately suffer, for new directions will be given to the commerce which now finds its way to the tide-waters of New York, and once alienated it will never be recovered. Our natural advantages are not sufficient to enable us to compete with Portland and the ports on the St. Lawrence, against increased odds.

We trust, if this is a railroad movement, these facts will open the eyes of the parties concerned, to the dangers of the course they are pursuing. Let them beware of the womanish policy of killing the hen that lays the golden eggs. They are doing well now. The canal can no longer compete with them in the best of the freight that is offered, and in trying to get all, let them beware lest they lose all. If it is right to discriminate tolls on the Oswego Canal for the purpose of protecting the Buffalo branch, it is right to toll the railroads for the same purpose.

The Auditor of the Canal Board has shown, in his late report, that, if the tax for the protection of the canals had not been taken off the railroads in 1852, the toll receipts by the canals from the freight they carried for the last five years would have been $2,912,269. It naturally occurs to a disinterested observer, that if the canal revenues are to be "protected," the best way of doing it will be by tolling the railroads again, as in former years.

The Ocean Telegraph.

The last act of Secretary Dobbin, before retiring from office, was to transmit orders to the Navy Yard at Brooklyn to fit out at once the United States steamers Niagara and Mississippi to proceed to England to assist in laying down the Submarine Telegraph cable between Newfoundland and Ireland. These are the two finest ships in our Navy for the purpose. The Niagara is the largest steam vessel of war in the world. She is a screw propeller, while the Mississippi is the most powerful paddle-wheel steamer in our Navy. The English Government will furnish also two ships of the same character—the two propellers being designed to receive the cable, and the paddle-ships to attend them, and in case of accident to take them in tow and continue the voyage. As soon as the cable is received on board, the four ships will start for Ireland, and the American for Newfoundland. There will doubtless be a generous rivalry between the officers of the two navies to see which portion of the cable shall be laid in the most perfect manner. It is very much to the honor of the two Governments that they are ready to join so cordially in the attempt to connect the two hemispheres. It is a national courtesy worthy to follow the return of the Resolute. Secretary Dobbin has taken the deepest interest in the success of this great enterprise, as he has shown in ordering these two magnificent ships for the purpose. The new Secretary will doubtless carry out fully the intentions of his predecessor.—N. Y. Tribune.

Buchanan a Candidate for Re-Election.

[From the Pennsylvania, March 6.]

We stood by when Mr. Buchanan pronounced his Inaugural. We saw the man and heard him speak. Tall, commanding and venerable in figure and mien, stood out most conspicuous, first among men, a giant and a Hercules. He seemed to feel that he was speaking to posterity. Every sound he uttered was caught up by the crowd, and wherever he enunciated his opinions, great and protracted applause answered to his tones.

The fact that Mr. Buchanan announces his purpose not to become a candidate for re-election, gives to his declaration of principle in his Inaugural Address a sublime and striking significance. For ourselves, we have only to say, that if James Buchanan lives long enough, and adheres to the noble declarations of his Inaugural, no man and no men can resist his advances upon the American mind.

SENTENCE OF DEATH.—The Rockford papers are filled with the proceedings of the trial of Alfred Countryman for the murder of John W. Taylor, Sheriff of Winnebago county. The following is the last paragraph in the Register's account:

On Saturday morning the prisoner was ordered to stand up, when the Court, after a solemn and earnest appeal to him to devote his few remaining days to an earnest preparation for his approaching end, sentenced him that he be taken by the Sheriff to the place whence he came, and there securely kept until the 27th day of this month, and that then he be taken to the place of execution, and there be hanged by the neck until he was dead.

The prisoner heard the sentence without the slightest emotion, not exhibiting near as much feeling as did most of the bystanders.

MAINE.—Maine is perhaps as decided a Republican State as Vermont. Some municipal elections down there this spring are all that way. In Bath, the republicans ticket was with no opposition.

The Indian War in Florida.

PALATKA, Florida, Feb. 19, 1857.

Mr. D. G. Leigh, from Adamsville, has arrived in our town. He states that all is quiet on the frontier. That the troops seem to be doing but little. No Indians can be found, nor their whereabouts discovered.

Steamer Darlington arrived from up the river last night. Mr. McDonald, the Purser, informed us that he learned that the Indians had killed some of Holden's cattle, and dried the beef within four miles of the post of Fort Capron, on Indian River, and that the Indians went to St. Lucie, where they embarked in their boats. The Indians had their ponys with them. The troops were called out on the discovery, but as usual, too late to find anything but signs.

[From the Tampa Peninsular.]

A detachment of Capt. Wm. H. Kendrick's Company of Mounted Volunteers, under command of Lieut. Mizell, came upon a trail of Indians on the 4th inst., on the west side of Istapoga creek. The trail crossed the creek at the same place that Gen. Harney did; and kept his course for about three miles beyond it, when it struck a course a little west of south. About eight miles from this divergence, the Volunteers came on the Indian camp, minus the Indians.

It is supposed that the Indians had anticipated an attack, and had lost no time in leaving the premises, as, in their haste, they left enough to supply their pursuers with an abundance of trophies, such as baskets, cups (cut from the cypress), an elegant hoe, broad tray (made from the brier-root and koonte), bear skins, a boy's shirt (made of buckskin), and many other articles scarcely worth mentioning.

The Indians had commenced a permanent establishment, as their constructions and arrangements would show. Seventeen or eighteen places for pounding brier-root were in course of construction, and some palmetto sheds were going up; a quantity of brier-root had been collected, and half a bushel of acorns (shells removed) were laid in a pile near by. In the opinion of the men who discovered the camp, this gang comprised about 15 or 20 Indians, with their families. They had followed Gen. Harney's trail, it is supposed, for the purpose of securing his "leavings."

The Indians were not pursued beyond the camp. Lieut. Mizell will probably report the reason.

The facts given above are gleaned from a private letter—the only information received at this place concerning the matter—and we have no doubt of the correctness of the statements, as the writer had conversed with several men of Lieut. Mizell's command, who had returned to Kissimmee, sick with the measles.

FOUR INDIANS SEEN ON MANATEE.—On Monday last, about twelve miles south-east of Manatee, Lieut. John Parker saw four Indians. He returned to the settlement and reported the fact, when a detachment of Capt. Lesley's Company immediately started in pursuit. It is hoped that they may succeed in overhauling the savages.

A correspondent of the Wakulla Times, writing from Key West, Feb. 16th, says:

"The United States transport steamer Fashion arrived here from Punta Rasa on Feb. 12th, on her way to Miami to meet Gen. Harney, who is scouring the hammocks between the two places. She reports the discovery by the troops of an Indian camp, apparently abandoned in great haste, as they left their dinners on the fires."

A YANKEE ENTERPRISE.—Mr. John E. Gowen, of Boston, has taken the contract to raise the Russian fleet sunk in the harbor of Sebastopol. There were no less than thirteen competitors for the job and among them the Company known as the Credit Mobiliere of Paris. The list of vessels sunk is as follows:

15 line-of-battle ships.
7 frigates.
5 corvettes.
10 brigs of war.
5 schooners.
5 tenders.
1 Steam-ship.
1 10 gun yacht.
22 transports.
15 steamers of war.
19 merchants ships.

The machinery of the steamers of war, before being sunk, was carefully covered with a preparation of tallow to prevent injury from the water. They were scuttled by boring three inch augur holes near the water line, and all this was done before the English and French appeared before the place, for the Russians did not entertain the idea of defending it, and one division of the army had advanced nine miles on the Perekop road, when word was brought that the English and French, instead of entering the city, had halted outside, and were fortifying their position. It was then that the Russian army returned, built the earth redoubts, and made that long and stubborn defence which has rendered the name of Sebastopol so famous.

Singular Proceeding.

The Lafayette Daily Journal of the 11th, says:

Ex-Gov. Joseph A. Wright, having, by resolution, been invited to address the Senate this morning, he appeared within the bar of the Senate Chamber. He spoke until nearly noon. The Ex-Governor spared not his political friends. More than once he was interrupted, but generally came out victor. He "thanked God that a majority of the members of every Legislature during his term had gone home his enemies. His opposition to their schemes of fraud had made this estrangement between them; outside influences had corrupted them." He charged directly that "offers of stock had been made to individuals for their votes on the bill. In this connection he named J. J. Alexander, Senator from Owen and Green, and several other members of the "unterrified."

THE KANE OBSEQUIES IN COLUMBUS.—The Columbus (O.) correspondent of the Cleveland Herald, writing on the 9th inst. says:

The Kane obsequies yesterday were solemn and impressive. The body lay in state in the Senate Chamber, which had been draped in black for the occasion. The Columbus Fencibles acted as guard of honor. A sermon on the life and services of the illustrious dead was delivered to a crowded audience by the venerable Dr. Hoge. This morning the funeral cortege, military, masonic, legislative, and civic, escorted the body to the depot. Three brothers of the deceased, and Mr. Morton, the faithful friend who accompanied Dr. Kane to the Polar Sea, to Europe, and to Havana, are with the remains. The body is embalmed, the coffin enclosed in a box, on the lid of which are masonic emblems. The American flag enshrouds the "last of earth."

THE QUEEN OF ENGLAND'S HEAD DRESS.—This pretty affair has 20 diamonds in a circle, worth $7,500 each—two large ones worth $10,000 each; four diamond crosses in the same worth $60,000; four large diamonds on the tops of the crosses worth $20,000; twelve others in fleurs de lis worth $50,000; eighteen small ones worth $10,000; pearls and diamonds on the crosses and arches worth $50,000; 141 small diamonds worth $2,500; 26 diamonds in the upper cross worth $1,500; two circles of pearls which are worth $15,000. All these stones are set in gold, and cost aside from the precious metal $559,500.

AMERICANS IN THE TRAIN OF ROYALTY.—A Paris correspondent writes:

What impression must it make on the Parisians to see the ambassador of the United States arrive in front of the Tuileries at the head of a procession of sixty carriages, while the ambassadors of other nations have at the most two or three! Mr. Mason, who was obliged to present all, did not know how to acquit himself better of his onerous task than by presenting them en masse, simply saying: "Your Majesty, all these are Americans"—upon which his Majesty laughs."

AIR NAVIGATION.—An immense concourse of persons, it appears, assembled at the Docks, Leith, to witness the departure of Mr. Goodlet, on his trial trip in an experimental air propelled vessel, which proceeded at a very slow rate to the extremity of the pier, about a mile, we should think, from the docks, when Mr. Goodlet deemed it prudent to return to the docks. It is said that he had discovered some defects in the air valves or other parts of the complex apparatus by which he expects to attain a great speed.

THE CANE CROP IN LOUISIANA.—An extensive planter who has recently examined a large number of plantations in the parish of St. Mary's La., assures the New Orleans Bee that the prospect of the next Sugar crop is magnificent. Never, at this period of the year, he says, has the appearance of the cane been finer, or the shoots larger or more succulent. Throughout the whole sugar growing region of Louisiana the prospect is said to be equally bright.

BRUTAL OUTRAGE.—We learn that a Mr. Kelley killed his wife at Havana, Mason county, one day last week, by stamping her with his foot. Her body was opened afterwards, and her heart found to be smashed to pieces. Kelley was arrested, and it was thought he would be brought to the county jail at Lewistown, as Mason county has no jail. We seriously object to our county jail being disgraced by the presence of such a brute within its wall.—Fulton (Vermont, Ill.)

FOR KANSAS.—A caravan of six wagons loaded with the usual amount of household plunder and a full compliment of men, women and children, passed through our city on Saturday, on its way to Kansas. This is but the advance guard of an immense Free State emigration to that Territory during the present season.—Springfield (Ill.) Jour., 9th inst.

THE WRONG MAN.—Quite a laughable incident occurred in Court the day before yesterday. A young woman, before Justice Sinclair, swore that a rape had been committed upon her person, and, upon being requested to point out the person charged with so awful a crime, who, she said, was present in the room, she looked around upon the assembled crowd, and finally fixed upon a man who was present merely from the promptings of curiosity!

AN APT REPLY.—"Madame," said a doctor one day to the mother of a sweet, healthy babe, "the ladies have deputed me to inquire what you do to have such a lovely, happy, uniformly good child." The mother mused a moment over the strangeness of the question, and then replied, simply and beautifully, "Why, God has given me a healthy child, and I let it alone!"

THE THREE RULING POWERS OF THE DAY.—At a late public meeting, the following "dry" toast was given. The author will get "buttered" when he reaches home:

"The Press, The Pulpit and Petticoat.—The three Ruling Powers of the day. The first spreads knowledge, the second morals, and the last spreads—considerably."

HIAWATHA IN GERMAN.—Longfellow's poem, "Hiawatha," has attained the honors of a translation into German, at the hands of the well-known poet, F. Freiligrath. It will appear shortly, with a frontispiece designed by Lessing, of Dusseldorf.

[illegible] Railroad.

A meeting of the Directors named in the Charter, was held in this City on Wednesday last, and the Company duly organized by the election of L. Andrus, of Grand de Tour, President; E. H. Baker, of Rockford, Secretary, and R. B. Light, of Oregon, Treasurer.

The following gentlemen compose the Board of Directors: Silas Noble, Dixon; L. Andrus, Grand de Tour; R. B. Light, Oregon; J. P. Smith, Byron; W. C. Grant, New Milford; R. P. Lane, C. H. Spafford, Jason Marsh, Seeley Perry, C. C. Briggs and D. S. Penfield, Rockford; Wm. B. Ogden, Chicago; John M. Capron, Alden, and Josiah Bond, Kenosha.

After the organization, the Directors met and ordered books to be opened for subscription at Rockford, Byron, Grand de Tour, Oregon and Dixon, and made arrangements for a meeting of stockholders at Oregon as soon as $100,000 are subscribed, to vote for or against consolidation with the Kenosha and Rockford railroads of Wisconsin and Illinois. The following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That in the opinion of this Board it is highly important that a consolidation should be formed at the earliest practical period between this Company and the Kenosha and Rockford Railroad Companies of Wisconsin and Illinois, so that a continuous railroad under one management may be completed from the city of Kenosha through the Rock River Valley to the Mississippi.

This action indicates the right spirit, and a determination seems to be evinced by those interested to push all these railroad enterprises ahead with vigor.—Rockford Register.

A Fair Hit.

[From the New York Evening Post.]

The morning papers have the following despatch from Washington:

"Ex-President Pierce was presented to-day with a splendid service of silver plate, the gift of citizens of Savannah. Mr. Toombs made the presentation speech."

The telegraph does not state the number of pieces, but we take it for granted the people of Savannah would never offer Mr. Pierce less than thirty.

THE GREATEST
MEDICAL DISCOVERY
Of the Age.
MR. KENNEDY, OF ROXBURY, HAS discovered, in one of our common pasture weeds, a remedy that cures EVERY KIND OF HUMOR, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple.
He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humor). He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.
Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.
One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.
Two to three bottles will clear the system of Biles.
Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.
Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of Erysipelas.
One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the Eyes.
Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.
Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.
One bottle will cure scaly eruptions of the skin.
Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst cases of ringworm.
Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.
Three to four bottles are warranted to cure salt rheum.
Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.
A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.
Reader, I peddled over a thousand bottles of this in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effect of it in every case. So sure as water will extinguish fire, so sure will this cure humor. I never sold a bottle of it but that sold another; after a trial it always speaks for itself. There are two things about this herb that appear to me surprising; first that it grows in our pastures, in some places quite plentiful, and yet its value has never been known until I discovered it in 1846—second, that it should cure all kinds of humor.
In order to give some idea of the sudden rise and great popularity of the discovery, I will state that in April, 1853, I peddled it, and sold about six bottles per day—in April, 1854, I sold over one thousand bottles per day of it.
Some of the wholesale druggists who have been in business twenty and thirty years, say that nothing in the annals of patent medicines was ever like it. There is a universal praise of it from all quarters.
In my own practice I always kept it strictly for humors—but since its introduction as a general family medicine, great and wonderful virtues have been found in it that I never suspected.
Several cases of epileptic fits—a disease which was always considered incurable, have been cured by a few bottles. O, what a mercy if it will prove effectual in all cases of that awful malady—there are but few who have seen more of it than I have.
I know of several cases of Dropsy, all of them aged people cured by it. For the various diseases of the Liver, Sick Headache, Dyspepsia, Asthma, Fever and Ague, Pain in the Side, Diseases of the Spine, and particularly in diseases of the Kidneys, &c., the discovery has done more good than any medicine ever known.
No change of diet ever necessary—eat the best you can get and enough of it.
DIRECTIONS FOR USE.—Adult, one table spoonful per day. Children over eight years, dessert-spoonful; directions can be made applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.
Price $1. Manufactured by DONALD KENNEDY, 120 Warren street, Roxbury, Mass.
Wholesale Agents.—New York City, C. V. Clickner, 81 Barclay street; C. H. Ring, 192 Broadway; A. B. & D. Sands, 100 Fulton street.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR DYE.—This great chemical dissolver has taken precedence over every other preparation for changing the color of the Hair. The public have realized by experience the important fact, that while it imparts the most perfect and natural black or brown, it does not impair the smoothness and elasticity or arrest the growth of the hair. Free from all caustic ingredients, it neither stains the skin of the hand, dries up the moisture circulating through the pores, nor emits any unpleasant odor. Its application is given and finished in ten minutes, in any weather, and the rich natural hue imparted to the hair of the head, the whiskers and moustaches is sure to last in every climate. Speaker Banks' Farewell to the House.

The following are the remarks of Mr. Banks, in reply to the vote of thanks embodied in the following resolution, offered by Mr. Aiken of South Carolina, and adopted by yeas 119, nays 35:—

Resolved, That the thanks of the House are due and are hereby tendered to the Hon. N. P. Banks, jr., for the able, impartial and dignified manner in which he has discharged the duties of Speaker during the present Congress.

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives: I solicit that indulgence which is usually accorded to those who stand in the position which I occupy.

I should fail to perform an imperative duty did I sever our official connexion without acknowledging my obligations to the officers with whom I have been associated, and to the House itself, for that generous and unwavering support which has been given to me in my sphere of service.

The congressional term which now closes will bear in the history of legislation no ordinary character. The unexampled energy of the American people, and the rapid extension of their theatres of action and enterprise, has crowded upon us from day to day a constant succession of questions of extraordinary character and serious import, and to this has been superadded an unusual amount of the ordinary business of legislation.

To have been called under such circumstances to the chair of this, the first of deliberative assemblies—an office which has been endeared to the people by its association with the memories of Muhlenberg, Macon, Cheeves and Clay—is an honor that might well crown a life of study and toil. To have discharged the duties of this office, delicate and important as they have been, to your entire satisfaction, is more than I could have hoped. The journal of the House, an unerring and an impartial record, and the resolution to which, as I am informed, you have come, following the gentleman from South Carolina (Mr. Aiken), give to me assurance that cannot but be gratifying, and for these I proffer to you my profound and life-long acknowledgments.

The welcome word from me must be that word which speeds your parting from these scenes of anxious labor. I invoke for you, gentlemen, a happy return to your homes, where the sweet and native air of hill and vale, and the loved forms and sounds of home and those we love at home, may revive our exhausted energies, purge the system of the fever of fitful and unsatisfactory contests, and bring each and all to the cheering admission, whatever disappointment and perils we encounter, that the performance of public duty and the service of our country is always a pleasant labor.

It is only left for me to announce that the power of the House as a legislative body now ceases, and to bid you farewell.

Sorghum Saccharatum—Another Story.

The following is the most definite and reliable information we have yet obtained in regard to the "Sorghum Saccharinum," or new Chinese Sugar Cane. It is from a communication to the Honolulu (Sandwich Islands) Advertiser:

The stalks are as destitute as grass of saccharine taste. But its value as a grain is more than commensurate to its lack of sugar. It is a most beautiful cereal, white, round, and delicate as sago in looks, and yields enormously. From a specimen riddled by weevils, (nothing but what is good will they eat,) I got 18 grains to grow, planted last February. It looked like broom-corn at first, but soon threw up 18 or 20 side shoots from each root. On the top of each shoot expanded a head, heavy with most beautiful grain, like those I sent you, ripening in four months from planting. From each seed there must have been a yield of more than 20,000, at the first cutting. But in a few weeks there shot up, both from the root and from each joint of the stocks left below the cutting, new heads, not quite so heavy as those [illegible] first, but from their number amounting to much more grain in the aggregate. Up to this date it has been gathered four times.

In July I gathered the first seed and planted again fresh from the stock, and in November gathered this which I send you, a larger growth than from the original.

Its good qualities as I have tested it are—

1st. An unparalleled yield.

2d. If well rooted, worms cannot kill it, as they do corn and beans, for it will throw out new shoots from the root like wheat.

3d. It is a fine feed for cattle or horses, either as grain, or to be cut up and fed green for fodder. The latter process only makes it grow up thicker. But for feeding fowls it is unsurpassed. It fattens them equally with wheat. Chickens just from the shell eat it as they would crumbs of bread.

With the aid of this grain, fowl-raising may be carried on to any extent, as the grain is growing, ripening, and ready for them to shell out for themselves at any time.—Sandusky (O.) Register.

A Double Mistake.

A Paris correspondent tells the following singular story:

A very amusing historiette is told of Count M., a gentleman of fortune, his wife, and a young man who may be designated as Mr. A. The latter, a simple clerk in one of the railroad offices, and the Count's cousin. The Countess, a very beautiful but rather conceited woman, lived unhappily with her husband. For more than a year past she has been under the idea that young A. was desperately in love with her. Every look the young gentleman cast upon her when they met, every pressure of the hand, every new vest, every fresh growth of moustaches—was interpreted as an evidence of ardent, though pent-up love. One night quite late, Mr. A. heard a ring at his door. Upon opening it, to his great amazement he beheld, in his nocturnal visitor, the fair Countess, attired in a traveling dress, and carrying in her hand her jewel case.

"Henry," said she, throwing her arms around his neck, "I have come to requite your long and faithful attachment."

"What attachment? I don't understand you!"

"Your attachment to me! I have read it in your every look, for months past. You love me! My husband is a monster. Let us fly to some distant land."

"Nonsense, ma'am! I love you! I never dreamed of such a thing! You must have been dreaming. As to flying to some distant land, you know very well that I am employed, dependent for bread upon a modest salary. How the deuce are we to live in your distant land, I should like to know?"

"Here are my jewels. Our wants will be trifling—"

"Pooh! Pooh! You don't want me to live upon other people's diamonds, do you? Let me beg of you to return immediately home."

The lady sobbed and ought to have been tempting.

"I cannot," she said. "It is too late. I seized the occasion, when the Count went to the Opera this evening, to write a letter avowing all—my love for you—your passion for me—my flight with you. By this time the letter is in his hands, and if I go back he will murder me."

"Zounds!" ejaculated the gentleman. "You mean he will murder me."

Here was a pretty business, to be sure. The lady wept and the gentleman burst into a cold perspiration. Presently a sharp ring was heard at the door. Poor A. turned pale, not doubting that his enraged cousin had come for satisfaction. Nerving himself to the effort he hid the Countess in a closet, and went to the door. It was the Count who had pulled the bell; but instead of being in a violent rage, he only looked anxious.

"Henry," said he.

"I am ready!" was the stoic reply.

"That's right, old boy! I knew I could depend on you. The facts are these—I went to the Opera this evening and ought to have been at home at eleven o'clock; but as I was leaving the theatre, some friends met me, insisted upon my supping with them, and kept me until this moment. You know what a jealous fury my wife is. You must go and make peace with her."

"Then you have not been home?"

"No."

What a load was off poor A.'s heart.

"I'll do my best," said he, "go and wait for me at the Tortoni. I will rejoin you in an hour."

Off went the husband, and, as soon as he was safely at a distance, A. quickly conducted the Countess to her residence, returned to his friend, and, gaily slapping him on the shoulder, assured him that "it was all right." The unconscious Count went home a happy man—and so ended the adventure; but it may be supposed that the lady now entertains any thing but a tender sentiment towards her husband's cousin."

The Opinion of Chief Justice Taney.

(From the Albany Evening Journal.)

We print to-day a sophistical, dogmatic muddy, and extreme Pro-Slavery document, which future historians will speak of as the present age speaks of the edicts of Jeffries and the Star Chamber. Unworthy of the Bench from which it was delivered, unworthy even of the previous reputation of the jurist who delivered it, unworthy of the American people, and of the nineteenth century, it will be a blot upon our National character abroad, and a long-remembered shame at home. It declares that the slaveholder may take his Slaves and hold them in any Territory under Federal control, and that neither Congress, nor the Territorial Government, nor the People, have the power now or hereafter to forbid him. It declares that the Constitution, though established "to secure Liberty," nowhere protects the existence of Freedom, and though it never mentions the word "Slave," everywhere legalizes Slavery! The monstrous absurdity of the argument, is only equalled by the astounding revolution it seeks to effect in our jurisprudence. It falsifies the most reliable history, abrogates the most solemn Law, belies the dead and stultifies the living—in order to make what has heretofore been a local evil, hereafter a National Institution!

Judge Taney requests the American people to believe that the framers of the Constitution did not know their own minds. For the same statesmen who drew up the Constitution, (which he says forbids Congress to prohibit Slavery in the Territories,) adopted the Ordinance of '87, which prohibited it in all the Territories we then had. The Ordinance was passed in July, 1787—the Constitution was framed in September of the same year. The same States and the same men ratified both. And one of the first acts of the first Congress under the Constitution was to reaffirm the Ordinance, and to again prohibit Slavery! Which are the best interpreters of the Constitution, the opinions of Mr. Chief Justice Taney, or the acts of Jefferson, Madison, Hamilton, Monroe, Adams and Washington? They created the Constitution, and the Constitution created Chief Justice Taney—the clay which now affects to despise the skill of the Potter.

Topeka and Chicago.

[From the Kansas Tribune.]

It will be seen, by reference to another column, that the project is on foot to connect Topeka with St. Joseph by railroad. The importance of this enterprise, not only to Topeka, but to all the interior of Kansas will be readily appreciated, and running, as it will, in connection with the Hannibal & St. Joseph Railroad to Quincy, and the Northern Cross Railroad from Quincy to Chicago, must be the main thoroughfare of travel and trade from the North and East to Kansas, Texas, New Mexico and California, and cannot fail to be a handsome investment of capital. It can be put into operation in two years, (distance 75 miles), at which time the Quincy and St. Joseph Road, 220 miles long, is under contract for completion. About 40 miles of this road is already in operation. The Northern Cross, 108 miles long, is in operation, and will compare favorably with any road in the country.

On the completion of these enterprises, Topeka will be within 24 hours' ride of Chicago, and connected by continuous rail to all points East and North.

DEFAULTERS.—By the report of the Secretary of the Treasury, we perceive that the government has brought 1,200 suits during the present century against defaulters, to recover $6,213,000. In all these cases the conclusion of the suit has been that the defaulter has not been found or has been dead or insolvent, and government has had to pay the costs.

TOBACCO.—The income derived in Great Britain from the consumption of Tobacco, was last year upwards of £32,192,953, the duty on which was over £5,220,000. This return is exclusive of cigars, which was about £150,000.

IMPROVED SEAMLESS WHALEBONE SKIRTS.

WE take pleasure in again introducing our improved seamless skirt, as being the most acceptable and reliable article in market; we are aware that many new styles called improvements are before the public, such as India Rubber, Gutta Percha, Rattan, &c., all of which we have, if called for—but cannot recommend them, as we have experimented with and tested them all—(most of them two years since,) submitting them to the judgment of competent ladies to decide upon their merits, and have found them from actual use, to be in all important respects, decidedly inferior to our properly prepared Whalebone, which has been in use the past two years, and has been highly approved and from all parts of the country entire satisfaction; and we have the more positive evidence from our own large retail trade, amounting to many dozens per day.

Therefore, we confidently recommend our Skirts to be the least objectionable of anything in use; possessing many advantages found in no other Skirt, the most important of which is our series of elastic Cords at the bottom, made from the only material that can be used, that will recover its place when pressed out of shape, will not roll nor curl, is not affected by heat or cold, and can be washed without injury. These cords at the bottom, instead of bones, which are an unending awkward and inconvenient, with our own prepared bones above and a fabric manufactured by ourselves expressly for our goods, in our estimation and the estimation of thousands who have used them, produce a skirt, and the only skirt equally adapted to the parlor, the street, and the crowd, giving a proper, graceful and elegant form to a lady's dress; light, pliable, easily adjusted and in every respect a complete article. The public are cautioned against all imitations or other goods called seamless Skirts. Every genuine skirt is stamped, E. & J. Holmes' Improved Seamless Whalebone Skirt, and are for sale at 98 Market street, Philadelphia, and in the principal Jobbing Houses in New York and Boston. E. & J. HOLMES & CO.

Portraits of Presidents Monroe and Madison,

BY GILBERT STEWART,

Together with a Valuable Private Collection of Oil Paintings, Bronzes, and Statuary.

HENRY H. LEEDS & CO., OF NEW YORK, will sell by auction, on Thursday, 26th March, in their Gallery, No. 23 Nassau street, a very choice collection of Paintings, belonging to a gentleman leaving this country for a permanent residence abroad. This collection, the accumulation of several years, by a gentleman of the first discrimination and taste, and designed for the private gratification of the owner. Comprises some of the choicest works of art, by American and Foreign artists; among these are Paintings by Thomas Cole, J. F. Kensett, T. Cropsey, T. Doughty, Wm. Ranney, Wm. Hart, Geo. H. Hall, Louis Lang, R. Fox, C. P. Cranch, Shattuck, Leclere, C. Stanfield, Wm. Shayer, Rich'd Wilson, Croswick, Ekkersdyke, Koekoek, J. Ostrade, [illegible], &c. &c., including also a few choice Bronzes, and Statuary. The collection comprises the original portraits by Gilbert Stewart of Presidents MONROE and MADISON. These noble works of art were a portion of the art of the first five Presidents, of which the other three were destroyed by the burning of the Congressional Library at Washington; these alone being rescued uninjured. A bill authorizing the purchase of the set had previously passed both Houses of Congress, but was vetoed by President Tyler. As almost the only authentic and original portraits of the early Statesmen of the country, and by an artist identified with them in reputation, both in America and Europe, these portraits deserve to be secured by the public institutions of the country, or would constitute choice acquisitions to our most prominent private collections. mh5-2w,ood,c66

PROFESSOR GRAY'S BOTANIES.

S. C. GRIGGS & CO.,

111 LAKE ST., CHICAGO,

ARE HAPPY TO ANNOUNCE TO Teachers, Naturalists and Students of Botany, that arrangements have been made for the publication of the new and admirable Series of

TEXT BOOKS ON BOTANY,

By Prof. ASA GRAY, M.D., Fisher Professor of Natural History in Harvard University.

Prof. Gray stands confessedly at the head of this department of science in this country, and these volumes, the careful and often-corrected work of many years, embody the ripest results of his scholarship. For comprehensiveness of scope, exactness and clearness of description, accurate scientific analysis of plants and beauty of illustrations, they have no equal. The series consists of—

I. LESSONS IN BOTANY AND VEGETABLE PHYSIOLOGY.—A new and very engaging treatise on the science of Botany, for schools and Beginners. Illustrated by nearly 360 beautiful drawings from nature, by Sprague. 1 vol. 12mo. Price $1.

II. MANUAL OF BOTANY; a Complete Flora of the Northern States, distinguished for the clearness of its arrangement and excellence of its analytical descriptions. Illustrated with steel engravings. 1 vol. 8vo. $1.50.

III. BOTANICAL TEXT BOOK; an elaborate exposition of the science for advanced students and amateurs. Illustrated by 1200 drawings from nature.

These works have the unqualified endorsement as the best works extant, of the most eminent Botanists and Naturalists in this country.

Professor Silliman, of Yale College, in noticing the Manual in Silliman's Journal, says:—

"The cultivators of the 'amiable science,' in the Northern, Middle, and Eastern States of our great confederacy, are deeply indebted to Professor Gray, for this new and more comprehensive edition of his excellent work. It is just such a 'Vade mecum' as the herborizers and young botanists of the region indicated have long needed and earnestly desired. The student is not only sure to find in it an exact description of all the known plants belonging to the 'cooler-temperate vegetation' of the Union, but he finds them arranged in accordance with the principles of the most approved natural method,—systematically exhibiting the essential characters, and the structural affinities, of the ninnineteen groups and families. It will, of course, become the constant companion of all intelligent investigators of Plants within the limits referred to; but it ought, also, to be introduced into every well-ordered seminary (by all means including the common schools.)"

Prof. Wm. Darlington, the eminent botanist, of Pennsylvania, writes:—

"I am very glad to learn that Prof. Gray's elementary 'Lessons in Botany,' are soon to be published. Such a work has been required for the benefit of beginners in this interesting department of natural science; and I am confident its appearance will be hailed with delight by all students and teachers, who have any acquaintance with the antecedent labors of the author. Dr. Gray stands confessedly among the most eminent and accomplished botanists of the age; and those having charge of our seminaries of learning, who are qualified for this station, will rejoice in the opportunity to avail themselves of his works, by which a foundation can be hereby laid for a superstructure of accurate scientific knowledge."

Prof. Holton, of Middlebury College, writes:

"Prof. Gray's 'Lessons in Botany' is the completion of a series, which now approximates the beau-ideal of the profession of Natural History. I know of no works published in England, or this country, nor in any foreign language, equal to these in imparting botanical knowledge. The oldest, the 'Text Book' is formidable from its thoroughness; and I have thought the 'Manual' was scarcely susceptible of improvement. But the 'Lessons' show the author in a new light. Many who have long regarded him as the first American Botanist, but have seen only his 'Text Book,' have not supposed so attractive a style would be natural to him. May the author never regret the irksome task of school book manufacture, if task it has been, though it seems to others that to write it must have been a relaxation, as it certainly is to read it."

Prof. Pearson, of Union College, writes:—

"I have examined the works of Professor Gray with great satisfaction. The additions made to this edition have doubled the value of it to the American botanist. It is, beyond comparison, the best Manual in this country, and should find a place in every institution where Botany is studied."

Professor Chadbourne, of Williams College, writes:

"I have examined Professor Gray's 'Manual of Botany,' with great pleasure. Its excellencies are many, but among them especially may be reckoned the generic descriptions, in which he is unsurpassed; secondly, the bringing together in their proper places, varieties of plants that have been before described as species, to the confusion of the young botanist. As a whole, it cannot fail to quicken an interest in that science, to which its distinguished author has devoted his life."

John Joy Smith, Esq., Editor of the Horticulturist, and author of the North American Sylva, writes:

"I have no hesitation in saying that Dr. Gray's textbooks are the best ever published. Every way adapted to our country, and therefore to our schools, as well as companions to every one interested in botanical research, they are indispensable to the adept and the amateur."

Prof. O. R. Willis, of the Freehold Institute, N. J., writes:—

"I have used Dr. Gray's 'Manual' constantly, since it was first published, and I now hail with pleasure the appearance of a new edition which has so modified as to leave the student nothing to desire in the present state of the science. The descriptions, both generic and specific, which were so full in the first edition, as to form a speciality, have been re-written to bring them down to the latest discoveries and observations; and I do not hesitate to say that I consider it the most accurate and reliable Flora of the Northern States, now in print."

The N. Y. Evening Post says:—

"There are few eminent botanists now living, who have brought to the study of the science minds so well endowed for this pursuit as Professor Gray; and his works may safely be pronounced the best of their kind in the language."

Other commendations equally decisive and trustworthy have been tendered, which it is unnecessary to add.

These works will be ready in about 30 days, and will be sent postage paid, on receipt of retail price.

Publish a New and Improved Edition of an invaluable work to Builders and Architects.

GOULD'S AMERICAN HOUSE CARPENTER'S ASSISTANT. 232 pages, 8vo., price $2. A novel and easy System of Lines, founded on Geometrical Principles, for cutting every description of Joints, and for Framing the most difficult Roofs. It is intended as a summary of all past experience in this line, systematizing the whole, and explaining the principles involved. There is a great difference between a work that merely states right principles, and another that carefully develops them—between a work that tells what should be done, and another that tells how this should be done. The "Carpenter's Assistant" is the latter of these. Without requiring erudite study it imparts more practical skill in the business than could be obtained from an abstract knowledge of the whole range of geometrical science. The tables are accurate, and the expositions remarkably simple and comprehensive.

The Trade Journal says of this work: "Every Carpenter and Joiner whose abilities reaches beyond the bench and the workshop, should make himself the owner, not of the book alone, but of its contents. To just such instructions as he meets with in this work, is the writer of this paragraph indebted for his own advancement from the journeyman's rank to the position he now occupies. The whole work, which has been a very expensive one to get up, does great credit to the publishers, and when known, generally, cannot but receive a cordial welcome from that valuable class of men to whom we are indebted for the shelter afforded by the "house we live in."

The above book furnishes an admirable opportunity for Traveling Agents. It is highly popular, and has obtained a value in reputation. Persons acquainted with the business will find this a profitable book for circulation. Price $2.00.

Fire and Water-proof Cement ROOFING.

W. E. CHILDS & CO.'S PATENT.

WE ARE NOW PREPARED TO PLACE W. E. CHILDS & CO.'S

Patent Fire and Water-proof Elastic Cement

ROOFING,

Upon buildings of all descriptions in this City and County, and SOLICIT ORDERS from builders and others.

This is the only roofing material yet discovered which will successfully resist the action of the weather in all climates. It is perfectly fire and water proof; and, in point of durability, superior to any other material now in use—except slates, and these are by far too costly for ordinary buildings.

We can put it on over tin, tar, iron or shingles, it making NO DIFFERENCE HOW FLAT OR STEEP THE ROOF MAY BE. This Roofing is warranted to prove as above represented. We will put it on for $6 per square—(10 feet square)—being as cheap, if not cheaper, than shingles.

We invite all who are building, or who wish the roofs of their buildings repaired, to call at the Agency of the Ætna Insurance Company, on Lake street, at the foot of Lasalle, where all information will be cheerfully furnished.

POST & THOMPSON,
43 Franklin St., bet. Lake & Randolph,
CHICAGO..........ILLINOIS,
IMPORTERS OF
BRANDIES, WINES AND SEGARS.
Also, Agents for the Central Society of Vineyard Proprietors
—OF—
Cognac Brandies from the Growers Direct.

ONE OF THE PRINCIPAL AND GREAT causes of the high price of Brandy in this market is the indirect source from which it is derived. Nine-tenths of that imported is received from mercantile houses in Cognac, who buy of the farmers in that district and ship it to the United States, and as much advanced prices, and frequently in an adulterated state. In view of these facts, and for the purpose of securing a fair price for their product, a union of Brandy growers in France has been accomplished with the view of direct shipment to the United States.

The name of the consolidation is the Central Society of Vineyard Proprietors of Cognac, under the management of a Committee of Directors and a Committee of Inspection of eight members. The society itself numbers five hundred vineyard proprietors amongst them some of the most influential noblemen in the department of the Charente, who contribute under certain bylaws, the entire growth of their vineyards to the general fund of the society, the present capital of which is 6,000,000f.

The advantages to be obtained from this combination are so apparent as to render unnecessary any further comment upon the subject; nevertheless, it may be worthy of observation that few features in this society possesses a more striking claim to public attention, than the fusion of interests effected between buyer and seller. Since all are shareholders, it necessarily becomes the interest of each individual to contribute by every means in his power to uphold the reputation which the society is endeavoring to earn, for shipment of the best qualities of Brandies. For this purpose a clause introduced into the statutes (article 40) renders it imperative that shareholders should supply the society with the very best Cognac Brandies, otherwise they incur the liabilities of an entire forfeiture of their shares. The undersigned agents in the United States for the Central Society of Vineyard Proprietors of Cognac would solicit the attention of and others, to the vintages now on hand, confident that they will compare more than favorable with any article in the market, and at prices far below the standard rates of ordinary Cognac. And as we import our Brandies direct to Chicago, we are enabled to sell at a less price than any other house in the city. The different vintages can be had in bond or duty paid.

NEW OSWEGO LINE.

WESTERN MERCHANTS AND FORWARDERS of Property and Merchandise to and from the West and North-west, are respectfully notified that the proprietor of the above line has effected such arrangements as will enable him to offer superior inducements to shippers of every description of Merchandise and Freight from New York to all ports on Lake Ontario and the Upper Lakes, with quicker dispatch and at as advantageous rates as any other line.

Upon the resumption of navigation, a line of A 1 Lake Boats, of the largest class, will be put on to transport freight from New York to Oswego without transhipment, and they connect with propellers and sail vessels on the Lakes. No property will be warehoused till it has reached its destination, as a vessel will always be in readiness at Oswego so that Freight may be transferred directly from the canal boats on their arrival.

The Proprietor will at all times endeavor to attain the quickest possible dispatch, and parties who have heretofore had their goods stowed away for weeks in a warehouse or depot in transitu, will find that such unwarrantable delays will be entirely avoided by this line.
